Walk lasted between 12:00 and 14:08. Tournament Park was closed.

We had two interesting sightings in the Maintenance Yard. One was an Orange-crowned Warbler that took a bath in a puddle of water right in front of us. We could see the orange crown when it got wet. Very nice. The other was another Flycatcher that we couldn't identify. It was small, had a faint eye-ring, and a couple of wing bars. We need a flycatcher expert! We are into a few weeks where the records are in the 30s. We got 27 species, which is a big number, but 35 was the record. The all-time record of 37 is coming up in two weeks.
