Walk lasted between 12:00 and 13:41

The weather changed for the better and we had a nice walk, although we did not quite reach the prediction of 16.7 species. We observed 16. I guess best bird was the Oak Titmouse. It was the only zero-probability bird we observed. The Orange-crowned Warbler, Nuttall's Woodpecker, and the Turkey Vulture were nice sightings too. Other than that, pretty standard fare. On to next week.
